SHAND CUP, SYBIL GREEN SALVER AND MASTERS INTERPROVINCIAL QUADRANGULAR TEAMS ANNOUNCED

Convener of Selectors John Spraggs has named three teams to compete in this annual event against Hawkes Bay, Manawatu/Wanganui and Taranaki, hosted this year by the Wellington Association at Boulcott's Farm Heritage Golf club on the weekend of Saturday 7th and Sunday 8th October.

With the season coming into the key events and as the selection team firm up their teams for the national interprovincial events, this weekend takes on a high level of importance for those wishing to cement positions in teams and others wishing to push their case to be included in the final five.

The Masters side, without the incumbent No.1 and captain Elton Nicholson, will be lead by Malcom Gullery, playing on his home course. Nicholson will be playing in the senior side on this weekend.

The Women's is a strong looking team, just missing No.1 Darae Chung who is in Australia for this match. A youthful top order of Erika Cui and Shontalia William, last weekend's Wellington Strokeplay champion, will be looking to continue their rise on the provincial scene, leading the team out around their home track also.

The Men's side will be without their two APAC bound players, Dan Hillier and Kerry Mountcastle, this event providing a great opportunity for the other players to step up in their absence. Lead and captained by Jono Cane, the team contains two talented and promising junior men, Jack Clout and Thomas Woods, who will provide power in the bottom half of the team.

Spraggs knows it's getting serious now, this the last match before his panel finalise the Interprovincial sides "It's time for the players to step up and demand to be included in the team, and contribute to some good results in our own backyard"

With the Wellington Strokeplay having just completed at Shandon last weekend, this event at Boulcott's Farm next weekend and the APAC at Royal Wellington on October 26 – 29th, the Hutt Valley and the wider region have a great opportunity to watch some top level golf.
